Helpful Reminders:

Comments must be submitted to the PSC by March 13th, 2015.

- Newly proposed projects will not be added to the TSP at this time, but will be noted for inclusion in the future update in 2016.
- Detailed design elements are not addressed in the TSP, but comments regarding design considerations will be noted for future use if and when the project enters the funding and design phase. With better database management, we are able to refer to your comments later in the process.
- Small-scale projects are not individually included on the Map App because they have been grouped together as "citywide programs" and proposed for dedicated funding. Programs are listed individually online at www.portlandoregon.gov/transportation/article/508313.
- To be considered formal testimony, which means you will receive a response to your comment and project updates, comments must include your name and physical address, and must be submitted to PSC. Comments submitted by organizations must also include a name and address.
- Comments can be submitted in any language.
